

There's Rhythm in the Telling of a Tale

Brer Rabbit and the Church ©2021

Program Highlights

There's Rhythm in the Telling of a Tale™
Brer Rabbit and the Church is an interactive storytelling program that features a Brer Rabbit persona of protest and advocacy rarely known outside of the popular Joel Chandler Harris' retelling and publications of the Brer Rabbit stories he heard as a teen working as an apprentice on the Turnwold Plantation. "It ain't right! It ain't right for one man to have it all and the rest of us have nothin'!" ~ Brer Rabbit (B'uh Rabbit)

From the Brer Rabbit stories Simon Brown would tell Reverend Dr. William J. Faulkner as a ten year old boy.

Reverend Dr. William J. Faulkner, Brer Wolf, Brer Bear and some other folks. (The Days When the Animals Talked)

NahNah Binyah and the Talking Sweet Potatoes

Gullah/Geechee Gumbo Books: A story based on a Ghanaian folktale, NahNah Binyah wants to make some sweet potato pies for the church and her neighbors; however, there are a few sweet potatoes that just aren't having it. "Go away! Leave us alone! WE don't wanna be in a sweet potato pie!"

"Oh me, oh me, oh me oh my! Gotta make more Sweeet 'tata pies!" ~ NahNah Binyah

Going, Going, Down to the River

Singing: *We found some string, and then we wove a basket.
With the basket we went a-fishing. Eh-bah-kun-dun-do-pele-ke-te eba-kun-dun-do!*

Little Johnny Brown

A ring-play that may have come from the British-isles found its way to coastal Georgia.

And King Lion?

Well, it's the Lioness' Queendom. Of course, he agrees with what the Lioness says in her response to what their cubby young ones have been asking.

Join awarding-storyteller J'miah Nabawi as he presents this hand clapping, foot stomping, shout out to Brer Rabbit (B'uh Rabbit), the Church and a host of other folks!

